Dave,

Sorry, I don't understand. I assume that RO means Responsible Official, i.e., a company representative. But the company doesn't sign the ITA. How does the ITA serve as a request from the company to include new stuff in the Title V permit? And how would EPA or the public know what that new stuff is by looking at the ITA?

We use the ITA signed by the RO asking us to include the new stuff in the Title V as an application.
